Introduction

Look around. In this book you will be looking and thinking about the world around you. You will be drawing pictures of your world and writing about it.

Your family, teachers, and friends are a big part of your world. The place where you live and your school are also part of your world. Your favorite sandwich, toy, special book, or pet is also part of your world.

Here is a picture of Mario's teacher and two of his friends. Next to each one is that person's name.

Draw a picture of yourself with your teacher and some of your friends.

Next to each person in your picture, write his or her name. Remember that a person's name begins with a capital letter.

When you name people in your picture, you are giving them a label. When you label people in your picture, then others will know who is who.

You can't always see the action in action words. Thinking is an action. But you can't really see someone think—not in the way that you can see someone run. Words like dream, see, sleep, and watch are all action words. They're quiet action words.

Sally loves to read.

Mark listens to music.

What do you like to do that are quiet actions?

_____	_____	_____
-----	-----	-----
_____	_____	_____

From your list above, circle your favorite.

Now, draw a picture of you doing your favorite quiet thing.

Write a sentence. Tell what you are doing in the picture.
